CONDITION OF MRS. CARL CRITICAL

The condition of Mrs. Lewis F. Carl who was seriously burned yesterday while lighting a bonfire, is regarded as extremely critical, and practically no hopes are entertained for her recovery. As over two-thirds of the surface of her body is terribly burned, grave danger lies in the fact that blood poisoning is liable to develop.

She passed a very restless night and suffered intense pain for she is conscious all the time. A consultation was held at 11 o'clock by Drs. Smith and Stedem, but the result of their conference was not made public.

A telephone message from the Sanitarium at 3 o'clock this afternoon says that Mrs. Carl's condition was practically unchanged and that she was resting as well as could be expected.

She is still in bed this morning, but declined to answer until he had studied the attack more carefully. Bryan left for Cincinnati at 10 o'clock. He will speak at Dayton en route. It seems certain this morning that Haskell will be eliminated from the Democratic committee. Mr. Bryan is said to have favored this course for weeks.

"It seems to me that it is only fair to let him run his own campaign. But, if it is necessary for me to run against two candidates, I shall not shirk the duty. 'Thrice armed is he who hath his quarrel just,' and as a have my quarrel just, I ought to be equal to three Republican candidates.

"I am interested also in the election of a Democratic senator from Ohio. The Senate is our weak point, not only because the Republicans have a larger majority there than in the House, but because the method of election and the length of term makes it impossible to change the political complexion of the House complexion of the Senate as quickly

READ ROOSEVELT'S ATTACK BEFORE ARISING FROM BED THIS MORNING.

Will Answer Same After Careful Study of Statement—Said to Favor Haskell's Retirement.

Dayton, O., Sept. 24.—At Cincinnati the home of his Republican opponent, Judge Taft, W. J. Bryan will tonight reply to the charges made by Taft and endorsed by President Roosevelt that he is unfit to be president of the United States.

Columbus, Sept. 24.—W. J. Bryan read Roosevelt's attack on him while in the galleries many could not see for those who stood in the way. A staircase seat from which the speaker was invisible was at a premium. A barred gate on the east of the stage was broken down by a pressing throng which found standing room on the stage by crowding those who had got there by showing tickets at the west entrance. Some boys were detected and driven from perilous vantage points to which they had climbed on top of the big pipe organ.

In the galleries many could not see for those who stood in the way. A staircase seat from which the speaker was invisible was at a premium. A barred gate on the east of the stage was broken down by a pressing throng which found standing room on the stage by crowding those who had got there by showing tickets at the west entrance. Some boys were detected and driven from perilous vantage points to which they had climbed on top of the big pipe organ.

Outside there were even more people than inside. If there were perhaps 7500 in a hall which has seats for 3200, there were 10,000 in the street in front. And many more went to the hall, but did not stay to join the outside clamors. People began going by 5 o'clock. By 7 there was no standing room inside, and later comers passed a steady stream of the disappointed trudging back to High street.

First to those inside and then to the outside overflow, the Democratic candidate spoke. Both sections of his hearers were wildly enthusiastic.

With the audience Bryan did as he pleased. It responded to every word upon which he chose to dwell with special emphasis. When he smiled, his hearers broke into laughter and cheers.

The constant calls for Bryan gave evidence of the nervousness of the great throng. Messengers were dispatched to the home of John Vance Jr., where he was taking a rest and soon his party appeared. Colonel Kilbourne attempted to introduce the speaker, but it was no use. The crowd wanted Bryan, and no other talker would satisfy their desires.

As Bryan stepped from the stage entrance to the center, the crowd as one man arose, waving American flags and straining their throats in eagerness to shout each other, while the Commander stood in his place transfixed. The band began playing "The Star Spangled Banner," and it was five minutes before order was restored.

"I appreciate the very hearty welcome that I have received in the capital city of my opponent's state," said he. "I am glad to come among those who know him well, for I have no thought of saying one word that would reflect on his character or his great ability. In fact, I am willing to pay him a higher compliment than the President does, by assuming that he is able to attend to his own campaign."

"I think the President does him injustice in acting upon the theory that it is necessary to turn the prestige of a high office over to a political party in order to insure that party's success. Mr. Taft has a platform, and not only that, he has the amendments that he has added to that platform, and if he is not satisfied with the platform as amended, he has a month

There's a Reason

PATRONS of the Advocate's classified columns may have mail addressed to a box number in care of this office. Thus the identity of an advertiser may be concealed. For example the following ads. are taken from today's classified page:

FOR SALE—High grade upright piano; used a short time only. Enquire M. V. care Advocate.

WANTED—To rent 6 or 7 room house, with 1 to 10 acres of ground, on Granville or Hebron car lines. Address J. D. E. F., care Advocate.

Nearly three columns of "Want Ads." appeared in yesterday's Advocate, everyone being worth reading, as the little liners are filled with bargains of all sorts and descriptions. Today's "Wants" are equally as interesting.

These liners, though inexpensive (3 lines, 3 days, 25 cents), are productive of results. They may be used profitably by the small advertiser as well as by the person who wants to buy, exchange or sell; by the one who wishes a maid, a piano, a horse, or what not; by the person who loses a dollar or an umbrella; by the individual who finds a package or a piece of jewelry; in short, the Advocate classified page is a business news page, the patrons of which are increasing daily. Remember—25,000 people see the Advocate liners daily. Don't you think that your announcement, whether it be a "Want" or a For Sale or Exchange bargain, will reach the right pair of eyes? If you doubt it, invest 25 cents and see. The people who make a few trials of the Advocate's classified ads. become constant patrons. There must be a reason.

Minot, N. D., Sept. 24.—Slowly roasting to death under tons of red hot bricks, in plain view of comrades who were unable to assist them E. W. Drake Sr., and Clarence Bailey met a tragic death at Kenmare.

The big kiln of the Kenmare Brick and Coal company burst when but 10 hours from completion. Drake, who is the manager of the plant, was buried up to his arms in the red hot pile and it was not for over 30 minutes that he could be reached by his rescuers. Bailey, who is the 17 year old son of a farmer, was completely entombed and was not found for an hour. His body was roasted to a crisp.

A son of E. W. Drake was seriously burned in an attempt to save his father. An explosion of gas is supposed to have caused the accident.

Newport, R. I., Sept. 24.—The situation of the stranded cruiser Yankee is considered grave. Although resting fairly easily under present weather conditions the position of the vessel on the sharp rocks of the Hen and Chickens group and the battered and leaking condition of her hull would put her at the mercy of the waves should a storm arise.

Guthrie, Okla., Sept. 24.—Governor Haskell, treasurer of the Democratic national committee today replied to the President's latest attack. The sensation of Haskell's statement is following: "Were I to adopt the character of language so commonly used by the President I would call 'Roosevelt's statement' in fewer letters than 'falsehood.'

Haskell says that the Prairie Oil company, a subsidiary of the Standard, got its franchise from Roosevelt's secretary of the interior, while Oklahoma was yet a territory, and that all he (Haskell) did in the action complained of, was to protect the company's vested right under the statehood bill, and if he had failed, the federal courts stood ready to interfere.

FEAR SERIOUS OUTBREAK

Winter's Cold May Check
Epidemic for Short Time

Estimated That There are 20,000
Victims of Disease Throughout Russian Empire.

Paris, Sept. 24.—Threatened by cholera epidemic throughout the whole of Europe next year, the health authorities of the various capitals are adopting the most elaborate precautions they have ever undertaken to keep the disease without the borders of their respective countries, and, failing in this, to deal with it promptly. The winter's cold is expected to check the disease before it becomes serious outside the Czar's territory, but that there will be another and more serious outbreak in the spring there is little doubt. For four or five years the disease has appeared regularly every summer but it was not until this year that it assumed the proportions of an epidemic.

Official reports have been so meager and conflicting that no accurate figures can be given, but it is roughly estimated that there have been 20,000 victims of the disease throughout the empire, with a death rate of nearly 50 per cent.

Washington, Sept. 24.—Because of the presence of the large number of cases of cholera in Manila Secretary of the Navy Metcalf cabled instructions today to Rear Admiral Sperry, commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet, not to give either officers nor men shore liberty there so long as any case of cholera exists in the city.

MANY GIRLS DRIVE THEIR OWN RUNABOUTS ON SHORT TRIPS

WHEN summer sports and pastimes have begun to pall a little and the fashionable young girl has lost interest for the time being in tennis tournaments, in golf, croquet and sailing, she turns her attention toward automobile driving as just the right change. Automobiles over here, and even a number of young girls who understand the haunts and give her a new kind of outdoor enjoyment. Automobiles, tours and short runs are almost as popular with the younger members of the summer colonies as they are with those who are more interested in speed than in scenery or who drive for the sake of driving rather than for the fresh air they breathe and the pleasure of having a congenial set of friends gathered together in the tonneau.

Girls' parties are always properly chaperoned, even though they be short excursions for a picnic luncheon, perhaps, in the woods. This means that two of the seats in the car or in each car must be counted out in arranging for the accommodations of the guests, while not a few have mastered the me-

Novelties in New Sweater Collars

HERE is only one real novelty in effect straight collar ones without the least seen in the collar—a round rolling effect, mottled after the fashionable shirt waist turn over. This is the distinguishing feature of the new knitted coats. Fortunately for the girl who owns one of the old style in excellent condition and of the right color, this part can be added or introduced in some smart way without necessitating the purchase of another sweater. It is always a convenience to have at least two, however, so that if the old one is dark it would be wise to supply a fresh one in some light shade, and the border on the fronts and bottom.

Girls' parties are always properly chaperoned, even though they be short excursions for a picnic luncheon, perhaps, in the woods. This means that two of the seats in the car or in each car must be counted out in arranging for the accommodations of the guests, while not a few have mastered the mechanical role to such an extent that it necessarily demands if they could repair a tire, put in a new inner tube or adjust a shoe with all the skill of a graduate mechanic.

This is not the part of automobile that appeals to the majority of young girls of fashion, however, and when they start on a week end trip or for a day's outing they prefer to get all the pleasure possible and none of the hard work. For a picnic everything is quite informal and often impromptu and as a general thing several automobile loads make up the party. They may be touring cars, runabouts, limousines and even racing cars, the latter especially when young men are invited to participate in the fun. The garage is drawn upon to supply accommodations for the whole party, which may number a dozen or thirty. In summer evenings peopled by a certain set it is always easy to gather together at short notice twenty or thirty young girls and young men who move in the same social circle and who enjoy the same kind of outdoor fun.

Birthday Cakes.

In some families where there are several children and birthday anniversaries come around every month or so a birthday cake board is made to serve for a general celebration, which is observed on the 12th day of the month, decorated with candies. It is almost impossible to hold the cake and display it to the best advantage, so some sisters of the little ones have designed their own birthday cake boards with great success.

A novel one of home made design and construction was cut from a wide board and measured over two feet in diameter. It was covered with crepe paper and holes were bored an inch or so apart for holding the small birthday candies. A flickering border of pink or yellow candlelight gave an effective appearance to the cake surroundings. The real birthday candies of the right number, were placed on top of the cake, each one being set in a decorative or fancy rosette holder.

Fancy sweaters are shown, but they are seldom chosen by girls, partly on account of the way they sell. A thick fancy rib or cord in a white or light colored sweater catches the dust much more easily than a flatter stitch. Some of the fancy styles are much warmer and more attractive than the ordinary kind.

The neck is shaped to depend and finished with the same style of fine knitting used down the back. The neck comes from the point of the V, whipping gradually until it forms a rolling collar about two inches deep at the back and sloping to nothing where it meets the front at the V. In order to have the collar even on the edge and to give the best shape it is in the waistband is done on the side that is sewed to the neck of the sweater instead of on the outer edge.

Cuffs differ very little from last season's. They usually match the edge of the front and arms, and are made to go around the wrist. They should be inserted in the center of the back and front of the collar. This part of the sweater should be firmly knitted to insure warmth. They are to be the top of the cake as in the other one.

THE luncheon is left to the servants, who fill all the available automobile hamper with dainties and quantities of substantial food and arrange it very invitingly in the little boxes and compartments of the English tea baskets and imported hamper. These baskets are fitted with aluminum dishes, with sets of white and blue enameled plates, cups and saucers, with tea boxes and alcohol lamps, with knives, forks, spoons, flasks and straw covered tumblers. They are compact and contain everything that could possibly be needed in giving a luncheon al fresco. These baskets are so convenient and have grown to be such a valuable part of the automobile equipment that they have reached the point of perfection in lightness and in fittings.

There are all sorts of bags and boxes made for automobile service—traveling bags with small but complete fittings, cases for carrying almost everything a woman or girl could possibly need in making a day's or week's trip in an automobile. Hat trunks or boxes that fit inside the extra tires strapped on the car take up practically no space at all, and yet provide a place to store a very complete wardrobe for a visit of a day or two. Some of the imported touring cars made for carrying women and girls are equipped with small toilet stands, which close up when not in use and take up even less room than those in steamer staterooms. The stand holds a tiny wash bowl and pitcher, a mirror, a tiny crystal water jug and tumbler, powder puff and box, a set of perfume and toilet water bottles, as well as a few small drawers intended to hold several individual towels. While the stand is quite tiny it is of infinite value after a long, dusty drive, when the automobile party want to freshen up a bit before arriving at some fashionable hotel or at the home of their week end hostess.

The stationary stands are far more useful than the fitted bags, though a well equipped car should include both, if it is a silver or nickel holder, which can be fastened securely to a part of the car frame, usually to one of the windows. Even for ordinary automobile it is a pleasure to have such a flower holder, both for the blooms themselves and for their perfume. One girl has her favorite rose, a single large bud, with a few leaves, in her automobile whenever she makes even a short trip. It is neither a fad nor a pose with her, but simply because she likes to see the flower and to smell it.

Goggles are needed on long trips when an open car is used, and frequently tinted ones are worn to soften the light.

There are some attractive amber goggles, at least they look attractive in their rich silk lined case, that are very restful to the eyes. The newest goggles have a single piece of glass extending the width of the eye setting and shaped to fit over the nose, then curved backward slightly.

This kind of single lens does not interfere in the least with one's vision. A soft padding edges the glass all around, and the space between the face and the glass is filled in with a very fine gold mesh which keeps out the dust yet admits enough air to make the goggles feel comfortable.

his day after daylight has given way to darkness, and the other a flashlight, the kind used by the opera house ushers, to assist in the finding of any lost articles in the car, in reading or telling time. Nearly all automobiles are provided with clocks, but even the best of clocks are liable to go wrong on occasions.

Automobiles intended for town use or for easy country driving, such as short runs over perfect roads from one estate to another, are elaborately fitted up. Not only are the interiors handsomely upholstered and cushioned of the same material supplied for the back and the feet, but the body itself has all sorts of little contrivances, such as leather cases holding a watch and visiting cards, small sized note paper, with pens and pencils; address books, match cases, bags or wall pockets, in which fans, slippers, purses and all sorts of trifles can be tucked out of the way and kept safely.

Small collapsible tables are built the right size to fit in automobiles, and those in the car can enjoy a game of bridge while flying over the road. Cases containing small packs of cards and an entire bridge set are usually included in the automobile touring outfit. For those who do not care so much for bridge other games are supplied, miniature checker and chess sets, the popular puzzle game of the day, or any similar amusement. In case of a breakdown or an enforced wait at the ferry slip a game helps to make the time pass pleasantly and quickly.

Even in warm weather robes are needed, if they are nothing more than plain cloth ones. An entire set of waterproof robes and wraps is a good thing to take along on any trip if the automobile is an open one. These coverings are so well shaped now and so well made that one can keep perfectly dry in a moderate storm, and one can never be absolutely sure of the weather.

A good automobile trunk can be bought for twenty-five or thirty dollars. This will be of a medium size and perfectly waterproof. Where a party goes a-touring more than one trunk may have to be carried along, though luggage should be reduced to the minimum amount, and attachments must be provided for holding them all securely. It is very awkward to have bags and boxes set inside the car.

Freak Tomatoes.

A remarkable specimen of freak tomato plants was left at the Advocate office Thursday morning. One stalk bears four large tomatoes and two small ones, the whole weighing four pounds and two ounces. They were said to have been grown in a punch bowl by Mr. John Bucey of East Newark.

Freak Flower.

Mrs. Edward Graef and Miss Ollie Smith, both residents of South Fifth street, are possessors of freak growth of flowers. Mrs. Graef has a snowball plant in bloom, while Miss Smith is the owner of a rose bush that is in full bloom, both out of season. They are attracting quite a bit of attention in the neighborhood.

EVEN PHONES

Are Affected by Prolonged Drought and in Some Cases Refuse to Respond to Duty.

"Trouble, trouble, trouble," says trouble man, for it is to him that all telephone subscribers tell their grievances.

The prolonged period of drought affects telephones. Few people realize that this is the case, but it is so nevertheless, and particularly it is noticeable on party lines. It is a phenomenon generally understood by telephone men, and Manager C. E. Hollander of the Newark Independent Telephone company explained it fully to an Advocate man Thursday, suggesting remedies.

When a party phone is installed the wire leading from the bells is connected to an iron "ground rod" about six feet long which is driven into the ground for perhaps two-thirds of its length. When "Central" rings the bells the current passes through the bells, follows the wire to the ground rod and by means of the earth the circuit is completed back to the central office. The ground, when ordinarily moist, is a perfect conductor, but in times of prolonged drought, such as is being experienced now, the dry ground checks and retards the passage of the current. Therefore, considerable trouble is experienced at such times by owners of party lines, for the bells frequently fail to ring.

Mr. Hollander suggests the remedy. All persons on party lines are requested to pour water around the ground rod so that the ground becomes thoroughly moistened, thus enabling the current to complete the circuit with freedom.

HEARST HURT TAFT.

When Taft read Senator Foraker's reply to Mr. Hearst's sensational charges in a speech at Columbus last Thursday night, what do you suppose he said? Not having had time perhaps to consult the President nor his advisory committee, consisting of Cox, and his fellow bosses, Hynick and Herrmann, to ascertain what, in their opinion, he ought to say, Mr. Taft simply said: "You may say that I have nothing whatever to say."

Mr. Hearst's speech came at an opportune time for the managers of the Taft campaign. They had just got through apologizing to Foraker for the snub that humiliated him by not inviting him to speak at the Youngstown opening, and they had just arranged for Foraker to preside at a meeting Mr. Taft is to address in Cincinnati Tuesday night.

Now the anti-Foraker Republicans are saying: "If we only had waited a little bit longer," and, "if the committee had only waited until after Hearst came to Columbus then they could have repudiated Foraker instead of being in their present embarrassing predicament."

There is every reason to believe that Mr. Hearst's campaign is being abetted by the management of the Taft campaign, in the belief that Mr. Hearst's attacks on Bryan will hurt Bryan and help Taft.

There is also good reason to believe that Mr. Hearst's attack on Foraker in Columbus was made to help along the elimination of Foraker by Roosevelt, Taft and the anti-Foraker Republicans of Ohio.

Taft denounced Cox at Akron three years ago and is now making "common enterprise" with him in Cincinnati. Anti-Foraker Republicans are insisting that he repudiate Foraker on account of Hearst's charges. If he doesn't, he will lose the confidence of his own followers; if he does, he will simply give additional offense to Foraker's friends.

So that instead of hurting Bryan and helping Taft, Mr. Hearst has succeeded in helping Bryan and hurting Taft.

PLAYING DOUBLE.

What have the Republicans who are making temperance an issue to say about the action of the Republican candidates for representatives from Cuyahoga county?

These candidates are pledged to Burton for senator, and they are also pledged to oppose further liquor legislation.

This is the same Burton who was chairman of the committee on resolutions and read the platform at the State Republican convention.

How do the Republicans expect to hoodwink Democrats on the temperance issue in "dry counties" and support Burton's "wet" candidates in Cuyahoga county at the same time?

Some of the screws made for the use of watchmakers are so tiny 160,000 could be placed in an ordinary thimble.

Case Dismissed.

The case against Sherman Bumeter and Wm. F. Gates, charged with pursuing and killing duck out of season and which was tried before Squire W. R. McMahon at New Lexington Wednesday was dismissed by that official for lack of evidence.

The affidavit was filed by Game Warden Frank Malinski and that gentleman, it is alleged, was the only witness for the prosecution.

Messrs. Bumeter and Gates stated Thursday that there was no evidence on which to convict them, and that it was purely a case of malicious prosecution.

SHALL THE PEOPLE RULE OR BE RULED BY RULERS?

Never before in the history of the United States has the office of President been prostituted to the level of political bossism like we have seen accomplished within the past year.

President Roosevelt has gone farther than dictating to his party convention the nomination of a candidate for his successor. He has so lowered the dignity of his office as to brandish his big stick over the heads of the people and say to them: "I appeal to all good citizens, to all high minded conscientious men who love their country for the sake of their country, to put such a man at its head."

This sort of dictation to the people transcends in arrogance the President's dictation to his party convention and the steam roller methods employed to enforce his dictum.

President Roosevelt says in effect, Thou shall have no other president except my self chosen heir apparent.

Suppose Mr. Taft were to be elected as a result of such dictation. Shall he also arise at the close of his term and say to the people, Thou shall take this man I have chosen for you and make him my successor?

By such methods, the office of President of the United States would become a prince-like inheritance and no longer controlled by the choice of the people. As Roosevelt named Taft to succeed him, so might Taft make Roosevelt's son to be his successor.

And I have a special interest in a Democratic Congress. I think I can take it for granted that if I am elected the same wave that carries me in will carry a majority of Democrats into Congress. But, as it is possible that we might fall short a few I want to urge upon you the importance of giving us as many Democrats in Congress from Ohio as you possibly can. If I am elected and there is a Republican Congress and Senate, I will feel mighty lonesome. But if you will give me a Democratic Congress to work with me we will make a Republican Senate feel mighty lonesome for two years."

Mr. Bryan said that there were things that stood in the way of the rule of the people, chiefly the contributions made by predatory wealth to the campaign funds, which have been shown up through recent investigations. He alluded to the insurance companies.

"But, my friends," said he, "more than that was discovered, and that was that on one day in 1896 $5,000,000 was turned over to five states. In 1900 one corporation in the city of New York gave $500,000 to the Republican campaign fund. That is more than we had in our national committee's treasury to carry on the campaign of that year. What chance have we, fighting for the rights of the plain people, if one corporation in the state of New York can give our opponent more money than we can raise from 6,000,000 Democrats?"

"That is what we had to contend with and the people now understand it, and the sentiment aroused among the people demanded legislation that would turn the light on campaign contributions. But the Republican leaders in Congress defied this public sentiment.

"When the question of publicity of campaign contributions was presented at the Denver convention it was endorsed by a unanimous vote. This convention declared for light, while the Republican leaders turned it down by a vote of 9 to 1.

"We have got the Republicans, though, in a position where they cannot object when we criticize their convention, because when Mr. Taft came to make his notification speech he could not himself defend his own convention. He was so ashamed of his own platform that he tried to jump from his platform to ours and landed between the two.

"I believe that our plank is a sound one, and that his position is not so good, and I want to remind you that even if Taft were elected there is no assurance that he could secure even his kind of publicity, for the Republicans elected to Congress will be committed, not to Mr. Taft's notification speech, but to the platform of the Republican party: whereas, if I am elected the Democratic Congressmen will be committed to this doctrine of publicity before the election and when I propose that measure, as I will, the Democratic Congress will rise and when Mr. Roosevelt took the oath of office.

"I want to help you to bring your neighbors to the Democratic ticket the vigorous enforcement of the criminal law, and Roosevelt's son name a son of Taft to succeed him, and so on, handing the office back and forth so long as there may be sons of Taft and Roosevelt to carry on such a plan of political primogeniture.

No doubt King Edward would appeal in the same language to the people of England to make Prince George his successor, if it were not already determined by the laws of monarchy that his heir apparent shall be king.

No doubt Emperor William of Germany would appeal to the people of his country in behalf of his heir apparent, if the line of succession in his Empire was not already determined by so called "divine right to rule."

And other monarchs of the old world would as willingly appeal to the people to make their heirs apparent rulers after them, if the choice of rulers depended on the suffrage of their subjects.

How shall the people of the United States, who boast of their freedom and independence, answer such dictation when they go to the polls in November to exercise the right of citizenship, which in this country is presumed to be greater than the authority of a king?

Shall the people rule, or shall rulers be chosen for them hereafter by the dictation of those who assume to rule?

This year by calling their attention to this refusal of Republican leaders to allow their campaign transactions to be known before the election—or even afterward—for that convention was not willing for you to know even after the election.

I want the Democrats, therefore, to ask their Republican neighbors why it was that the Republican leaders were opposed to publicity; and if the Republicans can answer the question, I want our Democrats to answer it for them.

"And I have a special interest in a Democratic Congress. I think I can take it for granted that if I am elected the same wave that carries me in will carry a majority of Democrats into Congress. But, as it is possible that we might fall short a few I want to urge upon you the importance of giving us as many Democrats in Congress from Ohio as you possibly can. If I am elected and there is a Republican Congress and Senate, I will feel mighty lonesome. But if you will give me a Democratic Congress to work with me we will make a Republican Senate feel mighty lonesome for two years."

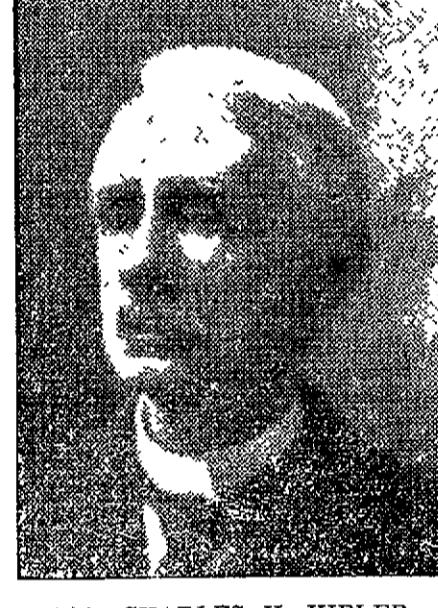

Mr. Bryan said that there were things that stood in the way of the rule of the people, chiefly the contributions made by predatory wealth to the campaign funds, which have been shown up through recent investigations. He alluded to the insurance companies.

FIGHTING SEVENTY-SIXTH HOLDS ANNUAL REUNION

"Licking Volunteers" Who Organized in 1861 at Camp Sherman Had Enjoyable Time at Memorial Hall

Many Comrades With Their Friends and Relatives Participated in Annual Event, Enjoyed Good Dinner and Listened to Splendid Addresses.

The annual reunion of the old Seventy-sixth regiment O. V. V. I. was held in Memorial hall on Thursday, Sept 24, and was a decided success. This regiment is the special pride of our citizens from the fact that eight of the ten companies were raised in Licking county and that its first three officers, Charles R. Woods, William B. Woods and Willard Warner were residents of Newark when it was organized at "Camp Sherman" (Old Fort) in the fall of 1861. It was familiarly known as the "Licking Volunteers," earning its title from the fact that it had never turned its back to the foe, and all through its long and eventful service fortunately shared with the winning side many of the grandest victories of the war.

COL CHARLES H. KIBLER,
Life President of the Seventy-sixth,

The government had educated a Newark boy in the profession of arms who had grown to manhood. Ten long years had his sword been sheathed, and now many of his classmates down in "Dixie Land" had turned against the flag they had sworn to support. Charles R. Woods realized this as the accepted time to act in defense of his country. He called upon the young men of his native county to follow him to the field. A local pride favored the project of organizing a county regiment. It was sometimes called a "family regiment." Two brothers were made Colonel and Lieutenant Colonel; a brother-in-law was made Major, and another brother-in-law made adjutant. The venerable Ezekiel S. Woods, formerly of this city, but deceased for many years, was called the "Father of the Regiment." The adopted children in this grand old regiment soon learned in the field to honor and obey and respect the head of the family.

During the organization of the regiment the men were daily drilled in squad, company and battalion drill, and in the duties of the sentinel and soldier. Through the military experience of Colonel Woods, and the efficiency and energy of Lieutenant Colonel Woods, both officers and men made rapid advancement. The men were first armed with the French musket, which was afterwards exchanged for the Springfield rifle.

The regiment left Newark for the field on the ninth of February, 1862, and within six days was in line of battle at Fort Donaldson. Here it did effective service.

No regiment in the army marched over more of the states in the Southland, or travelled more miles either marching, by railroad or transport, than the Seventy-sixth infantry. They were in all the seceding states except Florida and Texas, traveled about 10,000 miles and it would not be easy to find a regiment that was in more battles, sieges and skirmishes.

We can give here only a partial list of the battles in which this regiment bore an honorable part, but the following list has been compiled, and will be read with interest by Licking county people.

At Donelson, Tenn., February 14-16, 1862.

Shiloh, Tenn., April 6-7, 1862.

Corinth, Miss., (siege of) April 30, 1862.

The regiment participated in 44 battles. Two hundred and forty-one were wounded in battle, three hundred and fifty-one died on the field and in the hospitals, and nearly all the survivors carry disease contracted in the line of duty. It is a sad but noble record, and the survivors may well be proud of the part they have taken in establishing the greatness and permanence of the Union.

The attendance at the reunion Thursday was very good, much larger than on some previous occasions. The morning hours were spent in the transaction of the regular business of the association, making registrations and the renewing of old acquaintances and in relating reminiscences of the war. Many of the comrades were accompanied by their wives and families and Memorial Hall presented a pleasing picture as they mingled with each other Thursday morning.

At noon a splendid dinner was served by the members of the local Womans' Relief Corps.

It was decided that the reunion of 1909 be held in Newark, the time to be fixed by the president.

MORNING SESSION.

The business session opened shortly after 10 o'clock Thursday morning and was presided over by Col. Charles H. Kibbler, the president of the association. The session consisted of reports of the treasurer, secretary, committee and the election of officers.

Secretary Johnson Haughey read the minutes of the preceding meeting and Captain John Hiser, the efficient treasurer of the association, read the financial report, which showed that there was a balance on hand of $69 22.

The election of officers did not consume much time, as the president, secretary and treasurer are elected for life. Comrade George W. Earl of Massillon was elected vice president by acclamation and Comrade W. A. Wintermute was elected assistant chaplain by acclamation.

The roll call of the members of the regiment who were present at the meeting last year was called by President Kibbler, and it was noticeable that many of the old comrades who were at the reunion last year were not present.

At 11 15 o'clock the president announced that dinner would be served by the ladies at 11:30 o'clock and that a recess would be taken until 1 o'clock.

The program for the afternoon was as follows:

Invocation—Rev T A Cosgrove. Song—"America."

Reading the names of those who have died during the past year. Address by the president, Col Chas. H. Kibbler.

Song, "Battle Hymn of the Republic," in which audience joined in the chorus.

Remarks by David Davis, Milton R. Scott, C. H. H. Paramore, G. W. Earl and others.

Song—Marching Through Georgia. Exhibition of the old first flag of the regiment and salutation by the comrades.

Adjournment and parade around the public square in command of Col. Kibbler.

This woman says that after months of suffering Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped her as well as ever.

Maude E. Forgie, of Leesburg, Va., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I want other suffering women to know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. For months I suffered from feminine ills so that I thought I could not live. I wrote you, and after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and using the treatment you prescribed I felt like a new woman. I am now strong, and well as ever, and thank you for the good you have done me."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodontal pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulence, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

PUBLIC LIBRARY

INTERESTING COMMUNICATION REGARDING ITS PRESENT NEEDS.

Newark's Library has Come to Stay and Our Citizens Should Offer Generous Assistance.

(Communicated.)

The well-being of the Newark Public Library seems to rest very lightly on the hearts and consciences of our leading citizens. Comparatively few have contributed anything toward it; comparatively few have visited it.

It seems no doubt true that considering the plane upon which we are now living, the library is unnecessary to many of us.

Some there are who can afford to buy enough books of fiction and to subscribe to enough periodicals to satisfy their desires for reading. But books of reference needful to a thoughtful and intelligent person are hard to find for they are seldom privately owned. The great majority of our people however can not buy books, consequently they do not read. They have had no opportunity to acquire the habit; for it is a habit as much as idly talking with a neighbor over the back-yard fence, or attending cheap shows.

I believe this library has come to stay. I am optimistic enough to think that a thing that is so much needed must and will awaken an interest even though it be a tardy one. It doesn't pay to wait to see what others are going to do—our rich neighbor or those to whom we generally look for generosity—it will be a success if you and I do for it all that we conscientiously can.

"STAR BRAND SHOES ARE BETTER." STEPHAN'S DEPT. STORE.

AUDITORIUM.

At the Auditorium Theatre tonight will be seen the best motion pictures ever exhibited in Newark. The illustrated song slides are exceptionally good. The special added attraction, Miss Gracey Eldon, "the little soubrette," in her song specialties, is very clever. Prof. Smith's band and orchestra will give a special band concert in front of the theatre at 7 p.m. Ushers in uniform will be in attendance.

It really brings a blush of shame to the cheek to be told that Newark is the only place of its size in the United States, without a free public library.

And when some are heard saying that it is not necessary and we are doing very well without it, I am reminded of the remark of an early governor of Virginia, who said: "God grant that we can keep the printing press out of Virginia."

Some of us consider ourselves people of education. The circumstances under which we were born and brought up, have made this possible. But our brother, for it is generally admitted, is it not that we are our brother's keeper? Our brother was born under other circumstances, and is not well educated. You would expect, then, would you not, that those actually favoring this project would be the privileged class?

What does it indicate when the contrary is proven? A pitiable state of selfishness, does it not?

It is amusing to hear many say, "When I see that it is really going to amount to something I will contribute towards it." Suppose a hungry man was going from door to door stating his needs and is told by each person to whom he applies, "When I see that others are doing for you I too, will give you something."

The worst feature about this reasoning is, that in the meantime the man might starve.

Another amusing thing is the statement, "I do not approve of certain persons who have the matter in charge. I shall never contribute anything while the trustees are as they are."

Now, why not look this matter fairly in the face, putting away all prejudice?

These are facts Newark needs a library; needs it as it needs its good water supply, its good lighting of streets, its good police protection.

Some person or persons have had the courage to start it. A librarian, and a most excellent one, has been secured. A few books and periodicals have been given, it is a bright cheerful reading room, and you will see when you visit it has really taken

BROTHERS ARE PLAYING BALL

Many Instances Where Brothers Show Ability and Are in the Majors.

The ability to play baseball seems to run in families. Great is the number of cases where two or more brothers have taken to the diamonds as a means of livelihood.

But there are not so many instances where brothers have shown big league caliber. Many a star of the majors has a younger brother playing in some minor league, but not often are some of the same parents found in first company. There are but four instances today, the Delehanys, Tannehills, Clarks and Donohuas.

Most notable of all "baseball brothers" are the Delehanys boys. Ed, the oldest, was a National league star for many seasons. Few as great sluggers have ever played ball. He has been dead several years. Next in age was Tom, who had a minor league career of several years and has now quit the diamond.

Third comes Joe, now with the St. Louis Nationals. He is an infielder. Fourth is Jim, second baseman of the Washington American leaguers. Fifth, Frank, outfielder with the New York Americans. Sixth, and youngest, Willie, playing in the Tri-State league.

No other family has ever had three brothers at one time in the major leagues. If Willie breaks into fast company before Joe, Jim or Frank drops out the Delehanys will have a record that will scarcely be equaled in all time.

Jesse and Lee Tannehill are brothers who have long been in the major league spotlight. Jesse has pitched in both the National and American organizations, being at present with Washington in the American. Lee has been the very nifty third baser of the Chicago White Sox for several seasons.

Fred Clark is manager, captain and left fielder of the Pittsburgh Pirates and his younger brother, Josh, taken from Toledo by Cleveland last spring, has been left-fielding for the Naps all this summer.

Jiggs Donohue has held down first base for the Chicago White Sox for several seasons. Pat is also in the American league, being Boston's third catcher. A third brother, Frank Donohue, is in the minors.

MANAGER OF NEW YORK GIANTS AND HIS NEW $11,000 PITCHER

the phenomenal young left handed pitcher long before he caused the purchase of the youngster from the Indianapolis club for $11,000. Marquard's case is one of the most remarkable in baseball history. This is only his third year in professional baseball, and he had a hard time breaking in. He played around Cleveland lots for a number of years and then went to the Waterloo, Iow., team. That was in 1906. Last season he joined the Indianapolis club, but was later farmed out to the Canton, Ohio, team, and rejoined Indianapolis at the opening of the present season. His record since then is well known.

New York, Sept. 24.—In no direction is John McGraw's keenness as a baseball expert more conclusively demonstrated than in his judgment of young players. McGraw is credited with having had his eye on Marquard

THE LICKING COUNTY FAIR

Let old and young attend the great Licking County Fair. The educational value of a fair like the one held in Licking county each year, while perhaps its most important influence, is the feature least likely to receive public consideration. To the average person fair week represents an opportunity for a pleasurable excursion for sight seeing, for a visit to the county seat, and for the renewing of old acquaintances, or the making of new ones. All these are legitimate purposes of the occasion, and even if there were no other benefits from the fair the recreation and amusement it affords to the thousands of persons who attend annually, doubtless would justify all the expense and effort required to organize and conduct this fair.

The Licking County Fair, however, is more than a place of amusement and recreation. It is an educational factor of far-reaching importance and effect. To the farmer it is an education in that he gets as much valuable information as to farming from viewing the exhibits as the school teacher does from attending a summer school. He sees the new machinery, labor saving devices, the best breed of live stock and grain, and vegetables that are the products of the most modern and scientific methods of soil preparation and cultivation. He goes back home with new ideas and will be a better farmer than when he came.

While the usefulness of the county fair as an educational influence may begin with the farmer, however, it does not end there. Its benefits are enjoyed proportionately by producers in other lines of activity. The whole fair is full of new and helpful ideas for the city, as well as the country dweller. And best of all it teaches progress by the object lesson method, thus impressing upon the visitors this age's advancement in science and art, as well as in agriculture. All things considered, it would pay to conduct the county fair even if it were a source of expense instead of self supporting. I close as I began, by saying, "Let old and young attend the great Licking County Fair."

SURPRISES

Still the Rule at the Grand Circuit Races in Columbus—McMahon the Winner.

Columbus, Sept. 24.—Dick McMahon, Chicago's best when it comes to race driving, plucked both pacing plums that were hanging on Wednesday's card of the Columbus Grand circuit races. He followed an expected win with Catherine Direct, a juvenile, with an unlooked-for victory by Citation, his veteran, over Hedgewood Boy, the stalwart he brought last year to Columbus for an introduction into select racing.

Hedgewood Boy was such a top-heavy favorite that makers of heat books wouldn't lay against him until the race was two-thirds over. When it was finished, Citation had him kicked to a frazzle, but it was a most honorable defeat he suffered.

It can be deducted with the utmost ease that the second horse in a world's record race is up to snuff himself. Hedgewood Boy was so good that Citation was not sure of a chance until after two minutes of the second heat's pacing had been done. Furthermore, the race wasn't settled until almost all of the route in the third mile had been traveled. Hedgewood Boy was beaten, but not put out of Citation's class.

It Can't Be Beat.

The best of all teachers is experience. C. M. Harden, of Silver City, North Carolina, says: "I find Electric Bitters does all that's claimed for it. For Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles it can't be beat. I have tried it and find it a most excellent medicine." Mr. Harden is right; it's the best of all medicines also for weakness, lame back, and all run down conditions. Best too for chills and malarial. Sold under guarantee at F. D. Hall's drug store. 50c.

IRON TRADE REVIEW

Cleveland, O., Sept. 24.—The Iron Trade Review today says:

Retarding influences are at work in the iron and steel industry. The progressive movement so auspiciously inaugurated in June and carried through July has evidently spent its force, as the situation at present is little more than stationary. The total volume of specifications each month to companies manufacturing a general line of iron and steel products is practically unchanged. In this respect conditions are spasmodic, since our line is showing strength one week and weakness the next. Recently, steel bars have been moving in a rather large tonnage, which has been sufficient to counterbalance the declines in other lines.

Just what forces are holding back the industry at present is largely a matter of individual opinion among iron and steel makers. The usual explanation offered is apathy of the railroads. On the other hand, it is an easy matter to find many manufacturers of the belief that uncertainties of the political situation are delaying further buying.

The market is not without its favorable developments. Of noteworthy importance is the practical beginning by jobbers of the replenishment of stocks in merchant pipe, so evidence of confidence that has not been shown before during the depression. In sheets, also, there is a fair buying movement for store.

The drought which is prevailing in nearly all sections of the country is assuming a more serious aspect. In the coke regions the situation is growing worse daily. Throughout the river valleys many manufacturing plants are suffering from the water scarcity.

PULL OUT A HAIR

The Way to Tell if Your Hair is Deceased.

Even if you have a luxuriant head of hair, you may want to know whether it is in a healthy condition or not. 98 per cent of the people need a hair tonic. You can make a test yourself that you can see and understand, which will tell whether your hair is healthy or not. Pull a hair out of your head, if the bulb at the end of the root is white and shriveled, it proves that the hair is diseased, and requires prompt treatment if its loss would be avoided. If the bulb is pink and full, the hair is healthy.

We want everyone in Newark whose hair requires treatment to try our Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. We promise that it shall not cost anything if it does not give satisfactory results. Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is designed to overcome dandruff, relieve scalp irritation, to stimulate the hair roots, to tighten the hair already in the head, grow hair and cure baldness.

Out of 100 cases where it was given a thorough, conscientious test, it grew hair on 93 heads, which should be sufficient proof that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic contains extraordinary curative and hair growing qualities. It is because of our knowledge of this preparation and our sincere faith in its goodness that we want you to try it at our risk.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is a clean, clear preparation which does not grease, gum or thicken the hair, and it has a very pleasing odor. We have it in three sizes, price 50c and $1.00.

STRANGER

In Newark is "Rolled" While He Asleep—A Queer Combination of Booze and Bunco.

A well known resident of Pataskala has just about decided that Newark is the worst town on the map, and his decision in the matter was reached last night when he found he had been rolled for $4.55 by a smooth talking stranger that he had every confidence in. When he reached town early in the morning from his Licking county home he tucked a couple of big drinks under his belt, and then a few more followed the way of the first.

Soon, when he was in a good humor a stranger asked him if he wasn't a man I used to know at Black Hand," he replied that he was not, but he also mentioned the fact that he would buy a drink. The stranger kept drinking with him, for as he had satisfactorily explained, he "had a run of bad luck and was broke," but to get even with the Pataskala resident for his kindness, he offered to take him home to meet his wife and mother.

Of course this was agreeable and they started, but for a very plain reason they only got as far as the creek bottoms where they laid down for a little while, but when the visitor in the city "came to" he found he had been robbed of the money and a blue bandanna handkerchief that he had just purchased.

He gave the police a very good description of his unknown friend whom he suspects, and the police are looking for him on the charge of pocket picking.

RESIDENTS

Of North Buena Vista Street the Victim of a Petty Thief—Police on the Case.

Thieves of a petty nature are at work in the vicinity of the Buena Vista street hill, according to a report made to the police last night by a resident of that locality. For some time past the people living there have had many little things stolen, and the last theft reported was when a man told the chief that his apple tree had been stripped during the night.

Most of the men are away from their homes at night, as they are glass workers and are on the night trick, and the thief is aware of this fact. The identity of the man is known according to the statement made to Chief Zergiebel, and the people ask the police to work in connection with them in the effort to catch the man.

An officer will be sent to patrol that district.

SHOULD HAVE STREET SIGNS

"Why don't you Newark people have signs at street corners so a man knows what street he's on?" asked a regular visiting commercial traveler at the Sherwood, Wednesday. The answer was: "Ask the city officials."

It isn't often that visitors to Newark have a kick coming, but if there was ever cause for a little grumbling, absence of street signs is the first. Strangers in the city are perhaps the worst sufferers from this inconvenience, but there are many, many streets in Newark that even residents of the city could not find without a great amount of inquiry. Newark has grown rapidly within the past few years, new additions have been laid out and many new streets have been opened. The closest direction that can be given to any certain place is to give the street and number, and if the street signs were to be seen, the convenience is evident.

CHEAP STOCK

Secured by Traveling Salesman Which Turns Out to be Valuable Asset.

A stockholder in a young, but well known Licking county concern, is kicking himself because of a faulty business deal made this week, and a traveling salesman for a Cleveland office of a well known typewriter firm is chuckling to himself over a shrewd investment. It happened in this way.

Stockholder had thirteen shares of stock in the business which he had held for about six months. When he purchased the stock he tucked the certificate away in his desk and left it. Tuesday the typewriter man called upon him to sell him a machine that he asked $100 for. Stockholder only had $48 in cash with him so he pulled out the stock certificate and in a dreamy moment said: "I can't check on my account today, but will give you this stock certificate and the $48 cash I have with me for the machine." The Salesman was wise, and, being willing to take a personal chance, made the deal. Then he took his thirteen shares of stock to the secretary of the company for transfer. It was then that the secretary learned that Salesman had secured the stock at a figure something like $4.41 a share. The secretary personally offered Salesman $20 for each share of the stock, but the latter was wise and hung onto the stock. Later Stockholder found out what his pipe had lost him and followed Salesman to the station, begging him to sell it back to him. But Salesman was wise and stuck to the stock. Stockholder murmured: "Experience is a wise teacher, but oh so severe!"

PIGSKIN CHASERS

OF DENISON UNIVERSITY PREPARING FOR A CHAMPIONSHIP SEASON.

Former Professor of Denison Honored—German Social a Delightful Affair.

Granville, O., Sept. 24.—The prospects for a winning football team for Denison were never brighter than at the present time. Coach Charles L. Freeman of Cleveland, has been on the ground here for some days, engaged in selecting the material from the numerous aspirants who are anxious to try their prowess on the gridiron. The new coach is not saying much just at this time, but merely remarks "Keep your eye on Denison." The first game of the season will occur on Saturday of this week, at Washington, Pa., when the Denison lads will go up against Washington-Jefferson. The Denison boys will leave Friday noon for Washington. They are in good fettle and the students are hoping that victory will perch on their banner.

In the appointment of Prof. A. D. Cole to the head of the physics department of Ohio State university, a former professor of Denison university was distinctively honored. During the years he spent in this school he won the hearty sympathy of all with whom he came in contact, and is followed to his new position by their wishes of success. After graduating at Brown and completing his post-graduate studies he came to Denison in 1885 and remained here, filling the chairs of physics and chemistry until 1901, when he went to O. S. U. Last year he went to Vassar, occupying the position now filled by Clark W. Chamberlain. While here he contributed liberally to the various periodicals of the university.

The "German" social given by the ladies of the Baptist church in the parlors of the church on Wednesday evening was a most delightful affair, and was largely attended, the greater part of the young people of the college being present. During the evening an interesting talk was given by Prof. Chamberlain, which was followed by a sketch on German art by Miss Parsons, which was exceedingly interesting. The Denison quartet sang the well known Denison song, "The Watch on the Rhine," and Miss Bawden played a beautiful piano solo.

During the evening a "Dutch" lunch consisting of pretzels, coffee, cake, etc., was served.

The many friends and class mates of Victor H. Loppe will regret to learn that he has tendered his resignation as editor of the Adytum for 1909. He gives as his reason for this action the fact that he has recently been placed in charge of the new department of public speaking, and his other college duties will consume the greater part of his time. It was with great reluctance that the Junior class accepted his resignation.

In accordance with changes made last year in the constitution of the Athletic association the academy board of control has elected Floyd Unger captain of the academy football team. Captain Unger says that the material for this year's team is showing up fine, and he is confident that the team will have no difficulty in making a name for itself.

On affidavit of George R. Leesdale, Justice Holton issued a warrant for the arrest of Infirmary Director Albert Norris, of Granville, on the charge of stealing and carrying away one can of lard, worth $5, and 16 pounds of sausage, worth $1.60, the property of the Licking County Infirmiry. The warrant was served by Assistant Constable Sasser, and Mr.

Norris will come before the justice

After a short but pleasant visit with friends and relatives in Granville and vicinity, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Williams have returned to their home in Marion, O.
